BRYAN AND STEVENSON.

The "Boy Orator" And Grover Cleveland's Running Mate.

FREE SILVER THE ISSUE.

Fourth of July Convention Has a "Hot Time."

BRYAN SAYS "IT WAS SUDDEN."

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN, of Nebraska, for President. ADLAI E. STEVENSON, of Illinois, for Vice-President.

The chief center of interest on the glorious Fourth this year was the assembling in convention of the Democratic forces at Kansas City. Large crowds were in attendance and there was everything but a dull time experienced. It had been hoped that the nomination of Bryan for President would occur on that historic day and so make one more link in the chain of liberty by forging another blow for independence, but that plan was frustrated by a wrangle among the members of the committee on platform which caused some delay.

It was in the privacy of these closely guarded rooms that the real fight of the convention was made, the issue being the keynote of the campaign—imperialism and all the anti or free silver. Bryan from his new front porch at Lincoln manipulated the wires. He would stand on free silver or nothing and the silver tongued orator, who from his vantage point of eloquence, magnetism and a four year's ceaseless striving to win the hearts of his party, carried his point by one vote. Free silver will be the paramount issue again and over this well worn and out-of-date campaign cry will the Republicans ride to victory on the safe and magnificent steed—prosperity.

Wednesday, the 4th, was spent in arranging the platform which appears in this issue. It is clear and to the point. It is anti-everything and makes the free silver again an all important issue. It is the '96 Chicago platform emphasized.

On Thursday William Jennings Bryan was placed in nomination by Oldham of Nebraska. This motion was greeted with prolonged applause and the nomination was made by acclamation. Mr. Bryan was not present and received the news quietly at his home at Lincoln.

Thursday was spent in an effort to secure a Vice-Presidential nominee which was effected at half past two in the afternoon when Adlai Stevenson, of Illinois, Grover Cleveland's running mate, was given the honor of making the race with Bryan. Stevenson, Hill, Towne, Patrick and Lewis were all placed in nomination and numerous eloquent seconding speeches were made. David B. Hill of New York, would have received the nomination but in a brief but decisive speech, he urged the convention to recall his name. For personal reasons and he believed it best for the party, he declined the nomination. After Hill's refusal the convention nominated Vice-President Adlai Stevenson as the son-in-law, Rev. Martin Hardin, at Lake Minnetonka when wired of nomination. He remarked that he had not been a candidate but would accept the nomination and do his best to secure the election of the Democratic ticket—Bryan and Stevenson.

COULDN'T FIND SEATS.

The County Capital Was Overflowing With People on The Fourth.

HARDINBURG, Ky., July 9, (Special).—The trains were all crowded that came to Hardinburg on the Fourth, so much so that a great many of the men couldn't find seats. It was a pity. But cook sure, any old thing of a man that couldn't stand on the train a few miles ought to have been left at home with the kids. And did you see those poor women dragging along the streets, on the way to the picnic? Bless them, they made me feel bad. I just wanted to give them a little bump and dump 'em in it, but I didn't. Why is it the women always want to go wherever the men do anyhow? Don't you know men haven't got any sense, and you oughtn't to be following 'em around every where you now.

WOMEN TO THE FRONT.

Woman Suffrage Amendment in Oregon Not Overwhelmingly Defeated.

WOMAN'S DAY AT CHAUTAUQUA.

The statement has been sent broadcast that the suffrage amendment in Oregon was overwhelmingly defeated. This was taken advantage of by the opposition and all the other defeats of Woman Suffrage propositions added to it, as proof that Woman Suffrage was losing ground. While the returns from the vote on the Woman Suffrage amendment in Oregon are coming in slowly, the last accounts show the amendment is ahead. The official returns received in from nineteen counties and their aggregate vote is, Ye's, 12,223; No's, 11,278. Of the nineteen counties only six failed to give a majority for the women. Of these six one, Lake, was tie; another, Yam Hill, went 'No' by one vote, and a third, Unadilla, by three votes. The bulk of the opposition is said to have been in Multnomah county, where the vote of the girls was cast solid against Woman Suffrage. There are fourteen counties yet to hear from. Oregon suffragists believe that all but three of these will give the amendment a majority. The report that it had been defeated by an overwhelming majority was without foundation. The vote was so close that it is even yet impossible to tell which way it has gone.

The management of the Chautauqua Assembly have set apart July 14th as Women's Day. These meetings will be under the auspices of the National Suffrage Association. Susan B. Anthony, the veteran leader and Honorary President, will preside both morning and afternoon. Carrie Chapman Catt, the newly elected President, and Rev. Anna H. Shaw, the Vice-President of the Association will be the principal speakers of the day. On the Monday following the President will have charge of a work conference for the benefit of those interested in the subject who are stopping on the grounds. Everyone is invited to attend this conference.

Question Answered. Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your method and grand-mothers never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration, Heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and 'off' with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing more the matter with you. For sale by—A. R. FISHER.

DIES OF OLD AGE

Had a Large Connection in This County.

Mrs. Judith Meador, one of the oldest women living in the vicinity of Hardinburg, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. John Cody, last Sunday. Mrs. Meador was eighty-six. She had been ill for some time, and death was due to the infirmities of old age. Mrs. Meador was twice married, her first husband being Almon Pulliam, and her second husband Thomas Meador. Mrs. Meador had a large connection in the county, but the most of her immediate family have long since passed away.

M. Pulliam, Mrs. John Cody, Mrs. Mattie Pate, Thos. Pulliam, Pateville, Dr. J. W. Meador, Custer, and Mrs. Lucy Humphrey, West View, are the children who survive her.

It's Just Lovely.

The Hardinburg Lake A Fashionable Health Resort.

There are a great many fine looking girls here now, says the Hardinburg correspondent. Some of them belong here and some have come from a distance. The rumor got out some how that this lake before town was the finest spot on earth for folks to go a courting, so now most any lovely evening you can see them moving off in pairs in that direction, and when that's the case you may know that there is a love scrape on hand or one just coming up. It's magnificent, you know. The girls say it's just lovely.

MONEY PLENTIFUL.

Crops In The Lone Star State Are Bringing Good Prices.

COTTON SLIGHTLY DAMAGED.

McKinney, Texas, June 30, 1900. Mr. Editor:—With your permission I will again let my friends and the readers of the News hear some news from Texas. We are having some very dry weather just now. Corn is suffering for rain but farmers are having a nice time for threshing. About one-half of the grain has already been threshed in the county. Oats are making seventy-five to one hundred bushels per acre and wheat is making twenty to forty with an average of about twenty-eight bushels per acre. I have just threshed nineteen hundred and six bushels from eighty-three acres of land and sold the same for $1.162 1/2.

The cotton crop has been damaged some by wet worms which have taken the second trial at it and in many places have almost destroyed the crop. The estimate on the present crop is four to five million bales against nine million last year and thirteen million year before last. The present crop is expected to bring a fancy price, also the crop of 1901.

If any of the boys in old Kentucky ever expect to come to Texas to farm, I would advise them to come this fall. Come early, sow wheat and raise a cotton crop next year. The people have sold about all their surplus horses and mules to the government for cash and the great grain crop is now going on the market, with a good price for the present cotton crop.

The money crop will be bountiful and it will be a good time for all people with trains and wire who come into the Lone Star State looking for the almighty dollar.

Respectfully,
W. W. GALLOWAY.

"Hunger Is The Best Sauce."

Yet some people are never hungry. Whatever they eat has to be "forced down." There is, of course something wrong with them. By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla a short time they are given an appetite and then they enjoy eating and food nourishes them. If you find your appetite failing, just try a bottle of Hood's. It is a true stomach tonic and every dose good.

NOTED ENGINEER DEAD.

Mr. Hamilton Smith, Formerly of Cannelton, Died at Durham, Mass. Last Week.

Mrs. M. H. Hennen, of Havesville, left for the east last week upon the receipt of a telegram telling of the sudden death of her brother Hamilton Smith, at his home, Durham, Mass. Mr. Smith has been a hard worker until the last few years and has amassed a great fortune. As a civil engineer he reached the top of his profession and was in the employ of the Rothschilds of London, in developing the Transvaal gold fields of South Africa, at which time he was said to have received the largest salary ever paid a man in the world, $100,000 a year.

BROKE THE RECORD.

An Effort is on Foot to Erect a Monument to The Memory of William Hardin.

RED MEN'S POW WOW WAS A SUCCESS.

The Red Men had a big day on the Fourth at Hardinburg. The crowd in numbers broke the record for such an occasion for many years past. People came from every direction, and the crowd was estimated at from fifteen hundred to two thousand. The confectionery stands did a thriving business, and put many surplus dollars in the treasury of the Red Men's order. We understand an effort will be made to erect a monument to the memory of Wm. Hardin. The monument should cost several hundred dollars, and will be put in the court house yard. The Red Men say they will contribute liberally to this fund if it can be gotten under way. There was no speaking on the grounds, and a great many went away disappointed. The managers had written to several parties but all of them failed to appear. The people, however, seemed to enjoy themselves and the day passed off very pleasantly.

Freezing Weather in July

Would cause great discomfort and loss, but fortunately it is seldom known. A vast amount of misery is caused at this season, however, by impoverished blood, poor appetite and general debility. These conditions may be remedied by enriching the blood and toning the stomach with Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine seems to put new life in the whole physical system, simply because of its wonderful power to purify, enrich and vitalize the blood, create an appetite and invigorate the digestive functions. Supply for everything.

FOR A FAIR ELECTION LAW.

WE were appointed by the mass-meeting of citizens of Louisville, March 9th to send through the State printed matter urging the repeal of the Goebel Election Law and the adoption of a fair election law. None of us are politicians, office-holders or office-seekers. This committee has nothing to do with either party, or the honest election league, or any corporation, or any political organization. We are simply private citizens who feel interested in the peace, welfare, and good name of the State. Most of us are Democrats, but we all believe that the Goebel Law is essentially undemocratic; that it has already brought great trouble upon our people; that so long as it stands we have no peace, that there can be no fair reason for retaining it upon the statute books, and that all men should desire its repeal. That the law is undemocratic is plain upon its face. It gives absolute control of the appointment of all election officers everywhere in the State to a Central Board of three State Election Commissioners (Messrs. Poyntz, Yontz, and Fulton) who are not elected by the people, who are not responsible to the people, who can be removed by the people. It gives these three men also the supreme power to make the final count of votes in all contested elections, and to decide who shall have the offices and who shall not. The only exception to this rule is in the case of a contested election of governor or lieutenant governor, which the Constitution provided shall be determined by the legislature; but, members of the legislature get their credentials from county election commissioners whom the State Board appoints and may remove at will at any instant. If one of the board dies or resigns, the people are not to fill his place. It is filled by the other two. If two die or resign, their places are filled by the other one. When Pryor and Ellis resigned, Poyntz exercised the extraordinary power of appointing Fulton and Yontz to their places.

The principle of the law is undemocratic, and no amendment yet suggested can make it democratic. No amendment can do so which does not really amount to a total repeal. It is true from the people of each county in the right they always before had, to elect their own county officers (formerly their county judges) to appoint the election officers for each precinct in the county. Until the Goebel Law was enacted the people of each county, upon discovering any unfairness or fraud in the appointment of election officers in that county, always had it in their power to punish the fraud by defeating the man who committed it at the next election. Under the Goebel Law that power is taken from them. If the State Board wants to fill, it has only to appoint men on the county boards who are willing to do the bidding. If they refuse, the State Board can remove them at any moment. In a word, the Goebel Law subjects every election in every county in the State to the arbitrary power of the three members of the State Board, and then makes them the final judges to say who is elected in every case, save only in the case of Governor or Lieutenant Governor. The fear of the people is not a more absolute power over him. The subjects that these three Election Commissioners could exercise over the people of Kentucky, or over the disposition to exercise it are not afraid to do it. Such a dependence of popular rights upon the will of three men (however good and wise) whom the people cannot elect, must not only be abhorrent to every man who really believes in the most essential of all democratic principles, the right of the people to be governed by men of their own choosing, but it is political slavery. Will true Kentuckians approve it? Ought they to do so? Should not every man who loves his State, who believes in free government, who would have the people of Kentucky a free people, who believes in fair play, use his influence for the repeal of this law? We make no appeal as party men in this emergency parties are nothing to us. There are men who can not understand this sentiment. We want them to understand it. We want them to understand the moral sense of the people. We accuse no one. We defend no one. We recognize the errors, the wrongs, the crimes of politicians of both parties. But we believe that the great mass of men of both parties want what is honorable, right and fair. It is these that we earnestly urge to consider what we say and to use every endeavor to secure the prompt and total repeal of this undemocratic and dangerous election law. It has already done great harm. If it is not repealed, it will do greater harm hereafter. It was a Democratic measure, and therefore our main appeal must needs be to Democrats. We ask each of these to calmly consider whether the honor and the peace of our State would not be furthered by the repeal of the law. We ask him whether its retention will not be a plain confession of weakness by the Democratic party, and prove to the friends of the people on a false and a fair count? We ask him if it would not even prove that the Democratic party—the party in former years, under a fair election law, always honestly carried the State by large majorities—has been dragged down by its short-sighted and selfish leaders to the dishonorable practice of securing by a false count offices which they formerly won in battle? If that is not the purpose of those leaders who oppose the repeal of the law, we ask every fair-minded Democrat who these leaders are unwilling to let the people of each county elect the men or men who are to appoint the election officers for that county? Why do they want to leave power over elections in the hands of three men on the State board, all of whom, or a controlling majority of whom, are Democrats?

No amendment which does not amount to a repeal will leave the law anything but what it now is—despotic. The amendment proposed by Senator Blackburn and recommended by the recent Democratic Convention, to the effect that the Republican party shall be given a minority representation on the State Board, is perverted. It would not only leave complete control of the board's action in the hands of the Democratic majority of its members, but it does not answer the objection that the board is not elected by the people, is not responsible to the people, and has power to nullify the votes of the people.

Again, the law is not only undemocratic; all its effect is unfair. To leave to partisans of one party the appointment of all the election officers of the State is plainly unfair. It can not but result in fraud. Such frauds are sure to provoke more bad feeling and probably bloodshed. The State must suffer. It will take years for Kentucky to recover from the bad effects of what has already occurred under the Goebel Law. It would be a fair measure for the great body of Democrats to permit a few well leaders to prevent the repeal of a law which gives party policy as well as fair dealing and the peace and good name of the State damaged.

Our regular judges under the Constitution are elected by the people. The county judge is elected by the people of the county. If the county is Democratic, the judge will be Democratic. If it is Republican, he will be a Republican. The circuit judge is elected by the people of his circuit, and will be of the party having a majority in that circuit. The same is true of the Court of Appeals judges. This is as it should be. The judge being elected by the people is responsible to the people and can be defeated for re-election if they wish. This is democracy; true home-rule democracy. But although not called judges, the most powerful judges in Kentucky are the three State Election Commissioners who are above the people and judge of elections. Every judge in Kentucky will hereafter depend for his place on the certificate of these three men. They can control the election of the legislators who are to decide contests for governor and lieutenant governor, and, every four years, re-elect State election commissioners even more easily than they control the election of other State officers; for all they have to do is to make the county election commissioners give certificates of election to a majority of legislative candidates who are pledged to their cause. That majority can then decide who shall be legislators, and turn out any man whom they can not control. Not only are these three State Election Commissioners the most powerful judges in the State, whose decision upon the vital question of elections is final and not reviewable by any of the courts provided by the Constitution, but they constitute the only court in Kentucky which the very object of the law is to make partisan. To any man who has a sense of justice this is appalling.

Suppose the Constitution of the State, instead of allowing the people to elect them, had provided that the judges of the Court of Appeals should all be Democrats or all Republicans; would the fair-minded people of Kentucky ever have approved it? And yet we have seen that the State Board of Election Commissioners, in the all-important matter of elections, is above the Court of Appeals. That court holds itself powerless to correct any injustice or any fraud, however flagrant, which the three all-powerful State Election Commissioners may perpetrate. The spirit of Anglo-Saxon liberty is dead, indeed, in Kentucky, if, after all we have witnessed under this Goebel Election Law, the people will longer tolerate it or any pretended modification of it.

Not as partisans, but as citizens who have an interest in the State, we appeal to you, not as partisans but as patriots, to speak out for the people. Talk to your neighbors and demand of your leaders and representatives the unconditional repeal of this election law, not merely as plainly the best policy of the Democratic party, but as demanded for the peace, welfare, and honor of the State.

A FALSE ALARM.

It Came at a Most Inopportune Time For the Pretty Angler.

"And it all came from a little, petty, miserable, insignificant, almost pitiful alarm clock that cost me just 50 cents at a bargain sale!" exclaimed the pretty girl in blue, with flashing eyes, to her sympathetic friend. "I haven't the slightest idea why I bought it unless it was because it was so cheap. For goodness knows I didn't need it! But buy it I did and carried it home, where I bragged of my bargain all the rest of the day. It wouldn't run more than half the time, and finally I turned it over to my little sister to play with."

"You know the time I have had with that dainty young man and how I have quarreled with every girl friend I know who has dared to look at him? But you don't know how many nights I have wasted sitting up planning a campaign that would be successful."

"Well, he called the other evening, and I served notice on the rest of the family that we wanted the drawing room to ourselves that evening, for I felt sure that the supreme moment had arrived. I wasn't disappointed. We were sitting side by side on a divan, quite by accident, looking at some engravings when he began, and I tried to look as if I was awfully surprised. But he hadn't spoken more than three words before that miserable alarm clock went off right under us, where my little sister had hid it when she was through playing with it."

"From the way the young man jumped you would have thought that he was a part of the alarm and always acted that way when the alarm was sprung. He made for the door, mumbling something that I didn't catch on account of the noise that the alarm made, and he was out before the divan ceased and gave me a chance to collect my wits. And to think that it was all caused by a little, miserable, petty!"—The pretty girl in blue gave it up and burst out crying.—Detroit Free Press.

Poor Shots.

All the principal correspondents at the front among them Mr. Burleigh, Mr. Villiers, the art artist; The Daily News and The Times Making correspondents as well as Sir Howard Vincent have testified to the poor shooting in unmistakable terms. Mr. Villiers' experience was a particularly striking one. While asleep in his Cape cart on the road he was ineffectually potted at 100 yards off by three gentlemen in khaki, who mistook him for a Boer farmer. As he tersely puts it, "I never felt anywhere so safe as when under my countrymen's fire." An analysis of the "withering rifle fire of the British advance" shows that in very few instances was a Boer hit more than once, while many of our men had several Manner bullets through them. In some instances as many as 12 and 13. English as well as foreign doctors in Boer hospitals report that almost all the wounded Boers have come to their injuries by artillery fire. Dr. von Gerst says that the British rifle is almost quite without effect, which, if the instances I can cite of regulars who were hurled to the front and never died a service rifle in their lives be at all general, can hardly rouse surprise.—Nineteenth Century.

The Eminent Kidney and Bladder Specialist.

The Discoverer of Swamp-Root at Work in His Laboratory.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, or the kidneys themselves break down and send away tell by cell. Then the richness of the blood—the albumen breaks out and the sufferer has Bright's Disease, the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the new discovery is the true specific for kidney, bladder and urinary troubles. It has cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases, after all other efforts have failed. At drug stores in fifty-cent and dollar sizes. A sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling about Swamp-Root and the wonderful cures it has effected. Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and mention this paper.

YOUR GUESS

When you send in your subscription you make your guess. Be sure and write your name, address and guess as plainly as possible. As soon as we receive your subscription we will fill out and send you a certificate corresponding to guess made by you, which will entitle you to any prize that you may draw. Be sure and keep your certificate. We will file the duplicate with The Press Publishing Association. Every subscriber will receive as many certificates and have as many guesses as he sends yearly subscriptions to THE BRECKENRIDGE NEWS. If you want more than one guess get your friends and neighbors to subscribe. They will also be entitled to one guess.

CLIPS OF THANKS FOR THE NEWS FOR THE past year. SUBSCRIBERS charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 11, 1900.

BRECKENRIDGE COUNTY never had a finer prospect for crops.

LOUI CURSON has called, that 6,013-000 famine sufferers are receiving relief.

THE nearest correct guess to the population of the United States gives $15,000 in the News grand distribution.

NEXT to Wm. J. Bryan, the most conspicuous figure in the Kansas City convention was ex-senator David B. Hill of New York.

$50,000 distributed in one thousand cash prizes to the paid up one year in advance subscribers of the BRECKENRIDGE NEWS.

EDITOR SUMMERS of the Elizabethtown News is evidently out in the weather waiting for something political to strike him.

SUBSCRIBERS must be fully paid up one year in advance before a subscriber is entitled to a guess in our cash distribution of $25,000.

MR. HILL positively declined the nomination for Vice President with Bryan, evidently because he could not walk that free silver plank. In 1896 Mr. Hill was an ardent sound money Democrat.

THE St. Louis strike is on again. The boycott is now against the St. Louis Transit company, which it is claimed, violated its contract of July 3, in regard to the re-instatement of striking employees.

W. J. BRYAN is becoming a Mark Hanna himself. What he says goes with the Democrats and what Mark says goes with the Republicans. Will any difference in being Hamannized or Bryanized.

THIS difficulty attending the election of the Populist and Free Silver party, that in case of national success, they would be unable to give the people any assurance of a stable and well disciplined form of government.

JACK GROSS and the Hon. W. E. Minor are as thick as blackberries in July. They are working to carry this county for Lewis or any other man to beat Beckham and if Dave Murray don't watch 'em they'll do it.

WM. J. BRYAN and Adlai A. Stevenson, his running mate, are said to be quite opposite in personality. Mr. Bryan is very aggressive while Stevenson is of a compromising disposition. He was made an alternate delegate to the convention but did not attend.

THE latest reports from Pekin, regarding the safety of the ministers and other foreigners is more favorable. Japan has ordered another expedition of 20,000 men and 5,000 horses. Admiral Kuroki has appealed for more men and it is believed that more troops have been ordered from the Philippines.

COLLECTOR E. T. FRANKS, of Owensboro, Kentucky member of the committee appointed to notify Mr. McKinley of his nomination for President, will join that committee today at Cleveland, O., from which place they will go to Cincinnati tomorrow to perform their agreeable mission. Their visit will probably not be unexpected.

DR. WALTER T. ROBERTS, a practicing physician of Louisville, has been nominated for Governor by the Social Democrats who held their state convention in Louisville last week. Job Harriman for Vice President on the Social Democratic ticket, Eugene Debs and other lights of this political reform party were present and addressed the convention.

IT is this appears the semi-annual statement of the Bank of Hardinsburg. This bank, whose establishment is of comparatively recent date, is doing a good business thanks to the property that prevails throughout the county and to the fine executive ability possessed by the worthy officials into whose care and keeping the wealth of the people is confided.

THE first day of the trial of the Goebl assassination cases in the Scott county circuit court at Georgetown Monday, July 9, passed without any dramatic incidents save the search for the spectators for concealed deadly weapons. The case of Caleb Powers was the first called. The defense was not ready and a jury's delay was asked and granted. Evidence has been discovered, leaving the three shots which did not hit Goebl. They are said to have been fired from the floor of the Secretary of State's office. The majority of witnesses are present and both sides are said to be anxious for a speedy trial.

GENERAL DIAZ has been re-elected President of Mexico.

DICK OWEN and Dave Moorman came home from the Kansas City Convention delighted with their trip and proud of the work of the convention. They say it was the most enthusiastic body of men they ever saw and that the ticket named is a sure winner. They were loud in their praise of Missouri, its lands, soil and up-to-date farms.

EVERY visitor to the Kansas City Convention who kept his eyes open for the signs of the times and who was capable of being convinced of the right must have returned from the trip to that bustling western city singing a new song. Calamity however no longer have an excuse for existence. The story of the famine-stricken land is no longer a tale of woe, but in no section more apparently so than in Kansas and Missouri. Crops are good in the rural districts and business is rushing in the towns and cities. The country now is an almost unexampled condition of prosperity and prospects could not be better for a continuance of the same.

A NEW phase of detective ingenuity was made man's feat at Kansas City last week which showed Kentuckians up in a bad light and sustained their reputation as thrifty desperadoes. On the floor before each bar was a device known as the cyclone after which is a hole in the floor, covered with ornamental open iron work. It looks like an immense net air register, of which come great drafts of air. Everyone who goes to the bar to get a drink has to cross one of these sifters, the blast of air from which blows his coat up almost to his shoulders, enabling the detective to see the house detective to discover what sort of weapons he carries in his hip pocket and to govern himself accordingly.

THE Hon. W. E. Minor has it in for Beckham. Minor was an original Goebl man. He stood up for him in this county when no other man was brave enough to do it. He was sat upon in the convention that indicted him for Goebl. When Goebl got the nomination he went out and spoke for him. Goebl appreciated this and said to Mr. Minor, "I never forgot a friend." Goebl was assassinated by a member of the county he looked to Beckham for a fulfillment of his chief's wishes. Minor laid his case before Beckham and was not recognized. He was not even given a hearing. Hence it is to be hoped that Minor is doing all he can to beat Beckham.

GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT is on the right lines in his western speeches. He is patriotic and his speech is full of courage and manliness. He is not afraid to adopt the adoption of the same principles in national and military life that are accepted in individual and civil life. He says in part: "We want not mere lip loyalty, but we want the man who is ready to have patriotism, but you have got to have straight shooting. You have got the same qualities in civil life as in military. You have got to have patriotism, and you have got to have courage, a virtue for which nothing else will atone. There is no property without honesty, clean living decency and uprightness. You can't have same qualities in private life as you can in public life. The nation is wise enough to tolerate no difference between promise and performance. It will prosper. Promise is good so long as it is backed up by performance, and not otherwise. You have got to have honesty first, but you need more courage. If honest and timid, failure may be expected. You have got to have an addition of courage and manliness." In addressing the people at Lake Chautauque he gave some true causes of prosperity: "You people in St. Joseph are doing mighty well. You are not only prospering in your manufacturing interests, but you are prospering in your banking business, as shown in your bank clearings. This you owe to one but yourselves. It is the result of your energy and your enterprise. Never make the mistake that any system of administration will bring you prosperity, for it will not do it. Nothing but your own industry and enterprise will do it. It cannot be done by law. Property can be hampered by law, but it can not under any circumstances be made by law. It is enterprise that succeeds and the man in office must be enterprising in order to make the government he represents succeed. Men who do not help themselves would not succeed if they were helped. The state, therefore, can not do more than give a fair field for the energies of its own people."

WHISKEY Wins Again. The local option contest came before the Commissioners John Jennings, The Kelly and Taylor for Board Saturday, July 7 in the old Presbyterian church. Attorneys for both sides presented their arguments after which the board decided in favor of the saloon. The case will be appealed to the circuit court which convenes in October.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

"After having a mishap, I suffered with pain in my side and a lingering cough which grew worse and worse," writes Mrs. Cora Brooks, of Martin, Franklin County, Georgia. "Last spring I got past doing anything and my husband went to the drug store and called for Wine of C. C., and the merchant recommended Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, so he bought one bottle. I began to take it as directed in the pamphlet wrapped around the bottle. The cough left me at once and I began to get better so rapidly my husband was astonished at my improvement. I am now able to work on the farm and also do the washing for two families."

A GODLY MOTHER.
Immortal Life Awaits Her Beyond This "Vale Of Tears"

A LOVING SON'S TRIBUTE.

With grief-laden heart I feel impelled to give expression to my feelings through the medium of your columns to my mother's friends and neighbors in Cloverport, whose sweet sympathy and kind attentions so freely extended during her last illness not only touched and soothed her gentle heart in the closing days of her pure life but were also a source of comfort to the family in the deep anxieties and heart rendings they felt in the presence of such a great and overwhelming sorrow and while no human aid or sympathy could relieve the physical sufferings of her agonizing death, nor assuage the grief of the desolated home, yet the manifestations of love that were shown reached all our hearts and lent a softening, mellowing influence to the keenness of the anguish that only those who can know who have experienced the bloom that follows a visitation of the Angel of Death into a home and claims a devoted mother and the companion of many years. Terrible as heavy as falls the blow I am rejoiced to say that my mother met her end not only unscathed, but sweetest, truest resignation the will of the Master but answered the final summons with the fullest of Christian hope in the immortal life awaited her beyond this "Vale of tears."

To all who knew her intimately or even slightly there will forever remain a pleasant memory of her strong intellectuality and genuine sincerity of soul and the warm grasp of her hand and tender sympathy that gladdened in her eye gave her admission at once to the heart and the records of such lives as hers cannot be effaced by time, for they are written on tablets that do not perish. Endowed with a meek and gentle spirit and of quiet, retiring ways, she was seen at her best in the home to whose interests she was specially and fondly devoted, and her passing out of the world was a loss to all who knew her.

It is both painful and pleasant to write thus of a Godly mother, and I can personally add to it the sad, sweet recollections of assisted life who so long and similar sufferings preceded her death to the other shore, and I know they are now together in God's Paradise of Rest, for in this life they were attached to each other by the strongest ties of human affection. How much closer and holier must be the heavenly realm into which they have entered! Though we have committed their frail mortality to earth, the tomb cannot so terrify or sadden us as we think of their glorified spirits set free in the realms of eternal day. Then why should we grieve among the shadows of the churchyard or seek the living among the dead?

We sometimes speak of their lives as ended, their work as finished, but note, for the dawning that "Perfect day" into which they passed and after which we will follow, we recall the sweet associations of the past and cry out, "Oh, Death in Life; the days that are no more," and our longing

"For the touch of a vanished hand, And the sound of a voice that is still" finds no response at all. To some comfort there seems to be in the cold and cruel fate, but we should not contend against the irrevocable decree of God. Then his ways are past finding out. And not comprehending the mysteries of either life or death, or the unknown future which stretches out before us, we must and will believe that "He doeth all things well," for He has said, "What I do knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter."

I have written these poor lines with a tremulous hand prompted by the tender tie that runs through all the years of my life and binds them with mother love, now broken but not destroyed, and ask you to print them in affectionate remembrance of her whose hands were never too tired to toil for the weakest or the strongest of her loved ones, and whose heart knew no bounds or limit to the love she bore for those who were near and dear to her.

Sincerely and affectionately,
